SECTION 6: TAX CONSEQUENCES OF OWNER CHANGE (IF APPLICABLE)

CURRENT OWNER

A change of ownership of a life insurance policy or non-qualified annuity is considered a sale of a contract. According to the IRS, if there is a gain on the contract, and ownership change takes place, the gain may be considered taxable ordinary income to the "Current Owner" of the contract. Please contact your tax advisor.

I understand that should the ownership change take place, the taxable gain (if applicable) may be reported to the IRS as taxable ordinary income for the year in which an ownership change takes place. For annuities and modified endowment contracts (MEC), if the Owner is under age 59 1/2, and not disabled, the Owner may be subject to an IRS Penalty.

NEW OWNER

I understand that I am responsible for any Loans (if applicable) on this Certificate. Loan balances on life insurance policies may jeopardize continuation of the life insurance coverage if loan repayments and annual loan interest are not paid. If the loan balance exceeds the cash value of the life insurance policy, this may cause the policy to lapse and life insurance coverage will cease. I understand that at time of death, an outstanding loan balance (if applicable) will decrease the death benefit.

Please note that if this certificate is a Modified Endowment Contract (MEC), loan and annual loan interest may be considered a taxable event if there is a gain in the contract. For annuities and modified endowment contracts (MEC), if the Owner is under age 59 1/2, and not disabled, the Owner may be subject to an IRS Penalty. Please consult your tax advisor.
